Will Break Ground By August For New Fairfield School; Approve Bendersville Plan

Ground will be broken at Fairfield before August 1 for a four-room addition to the present four-room elementary school there, it was announced by J. Floyd Slaybaugh, county superintendent of schools, at a meeting of the county school board Tuesday night in the court house.

The board approved plans for the addition, which will include a basement cafeteria. Plans have already been approved in Harrisburg, Mr. Slaybaugh said. With the addition, all elementary pupils of the Fairfield joint system will be educated in this building and the old Fairfield high school building. Enrollment for 1949 will be more than 400 pupils, Slaybaugh said.

The county board also approved the addition of a home economics department at the York Springs high school, and plans for a new eight-room school building in the Bendersville area of the Upper Adams joint district. The York Springs PTA has already raised approximately $1,300 toward the home economics courses, it was explained. A room has been equipped and a teacher employed, Maurice C. Bower, supervising principal said.

Mother Accused Of Killing Son Has Baby

Hazleton, Pa., July 13 (AP)—Mrs. Henry Kalwaic, charged with beating her 15-months old son to death, is the mother of another son born July 8.

A son was born to the 30-year old dentist's wife in Nesbitt Memorial hospital, Kingston, where she was taken from the women's detention ward in the Luzerne county prison, Wilkes-Barre.

Mrs. Kalwaic had been in prison since May 12 when her son, Henry Charles, died two hours after admission to Hazleton hospital.

Police said she admitted using physical violence on the child because she feared he had developed a freudian jealousy of his older sister.

District Attorney Leon Schwartz ordered a delay of her case last month, pending birth of the baby. He was not available for comment on whether the case will be brought before the August grand jury.

Milwaukee, July 13 (AP)—Stronger than ever and starting his newly won third presidential term, Walter Reuther sought today to make absolute his control of the CIO United Auto Workers.

This goal was regarded by observers at the union's convention as a possibility but no cinch. Its achievement hinged upon the election of the UAW executive board, scheduled for today.

67 Babies Born Here During June

There were 38 male and 29 female births in Gettysburg during June, according to the report of Ralph Geiselman, recorder of vital statistics, and two male and three female deaths.

Cumberland, Freedom and Highland townships had neither births nor deaths during the month. The total for the district was 67 births and six deaths, Geiselman said.

The total births for the first six months of the year is 367, compared to 331 last year. Deaths for the six months total 96, compared with 111 for the same period a year ago.

Largest number of births, 71, occurred in May this year, and greatest number of deaths, 26, in January.

FIREMEN MEET TONIGHT
The regular July meeting of the Gettysburg fire company will be held at the Firemen's Retreat in the mountains tonight, at 7:30 p. m. A partial report on the recent battle anniversary and July 4th celebration will be given, and refreshments will be served.

TRUCK AND CAR ARE INVOLVED IN $2,000 CRASH

An automobile and a truck were involved in a collision on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road a mile south of Dillsburg at 5:10 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when the truck attempted to pass two cars. All three vehicles were going north.

State police of the Gettysburg station said that the truck, owned by James O. Strauss, York, and driven by L. Harry Thoman, 31, of York, attempted to pass an automobile in front of it. The car, police said, at the same time, turned out to pass another automobile in front of it.

Thoman was forced to drive the truck to the left side of the highway. It struck the beam, and as Thoman applied his brakes, he lost control. The truck struck the left rear of the first car, driven by Frank E. Butler, 63, of Syracuse, N. Y.

$2,000 Damage
The New York car spun around and went into a field on the left side of the road, after knocking down a highway sign and ending up on a stump. The truck hit the bank on the right and turned over on its side. No one was injured. Damage to the truck was estimated at $2,000 and to the car at $50.

Automobiles operated by William Gastley, 42, of Gettysburg R. 3, and Lloyd Kump, 31, of 209 Chambersburg street, collided at 6:55 p. m., on the Lincoln highway near the Gettysburg Country club, state police reported.

Gastley was driving west, police said, and ran off the highway on the left side, the right front of his car striking the right front of the Kump automobile which was proceeding east. Damage was estimated at $75 to each car. No one was injured.

BULLETINS
Pittsburgh, July 13 (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers executive board today accepted a presidential plan for a 60-day steel strike delay—but failed to mention whether steel concerns rejecting the plan would be included in the truce.

Washington, July 13 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson today flatly opposed any cut in the administration's projected $1,450,000,000 foreign arms aid program. He said this figure represents the absolute minimum needed for western Europe and other areas.

New York, July 13 (AP)—Mayor William O'Dwyer announced today that he will run for reelection. The mayor said at a news conference: "I deem it my duty in the best interests of the city to run for reelection."

His automobile overturned on the Fairfield road four and a half miles from Gettysburg, at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday. He furnished $500 bail for sentence court August 27.

Preston was driving toward Fairfield when something went wrong with his steering gear, police said, causing his car to go to the left and strike the bank. It rolled over on its side on the highway. Preston escaped injury, but damage to his car was estimated at $600.

Some Highways Blocked As Streams Reach Flood Stage During Tuesday's Downpour

Swollen by steady rains that totaled more than four inches, Tuesday, streams throughout Adams county were bank-high and in many places overflowed onto the highways. Fields in low places were under water and muddy water filled roadside ditches.

Two of the worst floods resulted from the sudden rise of Miney branch, near Fairfield, and Flat run, just north of Emmitsburg.

Traffic on the Emmitsburg road at the bridge over Flat run was halted for a time during the height of the flood in the afternoon, and again when the creek rose for the second time in the evening.

Cars Pushed Through for Fee
Many cars were stalled in the water which at one time came as high as the headlights on the automobiles. Men in hip boots or bathing suits were charging $2 and $3 to push the stalled cars out of the water which swept across the top of the bridge. The price was $2 for north-bound cars and $3 for south-bound. The pushers had to buck a stronger current with the south-bound cars.

At Phalheim's park on Route 16, a mile and a half west of Zora, Miney branch overflowed its banks, inundated the park, surrounded several outbuildings and came within an inch of flowing into the store and refreshment stand. The highway itself was covered during the earlier part of the afternoon to a depth of two feet, and the store was marooned like an island.

The creek was so far over its banks that its normal course could not be seen. It flowed over a wooden bridge at the park and raged with foot-high waves as it pushed out over fields and into the woods.

Other Streams High
Both above and below the park cattle were forced to higher ground, and the area resembled a series of small lakes. Residents said it was the worst flood there in over 20 years.

In the north part of the county, the streams were slower to rise. Conecago creek in the vicinity of Arendtsville ran clear and at hardly more than its normal level during the afternoon, and other streams were only slightly higher. In the evening however, most of them were

Stallsmith Says Action On Raid Aftermath Up To Burgess

Wilbur J. Stallsmith, chairman of the Gettysburg Council Safety Committee, today issued a prepared statement with reference to the recent raid on a carnival here.

After the raid, ordered by District Attorney Daniel E. Teeter without the knowledge of the local police force, in which 11 men were arrested and are held under $2,800 bail for court next Monday, it was revealed that Chief of Police Robert C. Harpster had leased the land for the carnival from the local property owners, had "haggled" over the price, eventually securing a lower rate and that on Sunday he had offered to pay an additional $15 for use of the land but his offer was not accepted.

Harpster was on the carnival grounds in civilian clothes at the time State Police made the raid.

Burgess C. A. Heiges said on Monday that Harpster "was on vacation." The burgess said that Harpster "had a few days' vacation coming to him and asked if he could take it now. I gave him permission."

Stallsmith's statement follows: "The Borough Code," said Stallsmith, "gives the Burgess exclusive control over policemen. He is responsible for overseeing their conduct and may suspend them for misconduct."

"The Borough Council may remove or suspend a policeman but ordinarily it should act only after the Burgess has acted."

"Suspensions or dismissals must be sustained by satisfactory evidence under Civil Service laws, and as yet neither the Burgess nor the District Attorney have submitted any evidence or recommendations to our committee."

Rain Tuesday Sets 26-Year Record

Tuesday's downpour that ended in this morning's early hours totaled 4.64 inches, the third heaviest rainfall recorded in any 24-hour period since continuous weather records were begun here 46 years ago.

The heaviest rain for any one-day period occurred July 30, 1923, when 5.50 inches fell here. The second highest figure was set September 15, 1916, when rains totaled 4.86 inches.

Tuesday's almost continuous rain that extended through more than 17 hours was more than double the entire rainfall for the month of June. Until Tuesday, July's rains totaled 0.75 inches. The June total was only 2.30 inches. May rains amounted to 3.11 inches.

bank-high, and some smaller ones overflowed.

Marsh creek and Rock creek were both high, and at Marsh Creek Heights the water was up to the road. In Gettysburg, the Tiber ran like a mill race.

A bridge at the Gingell Quarries was blocked by high waters.

Long Drought Ends
Parched soil in southeastern Pennsylvania absorbed a two-inch rainfall today, ending a drought that had threatened crops for six weeks.

A 24-hour downpour of 1.93 inches in the Philadelphia area, the first in weeks, was just the kind the fields needed, the weather bureau there reported. The total rainfall in Philadelphia in June was .35 inches, an all-time low.

However, other sections of the state were not so fortunate. Allentown, to the north of Philadelphia, had only .39 of an inch of rain and Sunbury in the central area measured only .66 of an inch. Williamsport had a bare .05 of an inch.

The weather bureau in Harrisburg said it was too early to determine the definite effect of the rainfall on crops but observed that unquestionably it helped a lot. The (Please Turn to Page 2)

AMERICAN LOOP ALL STARS WIN 11-7 DECISION

By JOE REICHLER

Brooklyn, July 13 (AP) — Branch Rickey, among many National leaguers writhing under the humiliation of his circuit's latest setback by American league all-stars, 11-7, today laid the blame on the fans' doorstep.

Rickey, head of the Brooklyn Dodgers, in whose Ebbets field the latest nightmare for the National league took place, said "it seems to me that the nationwide fans' voting idea is not the best one."

"I may be wrong in that," he added, "but I am sure of this, however. The manager should not be forced to start with the fans' top selections — and play them for three innings. He should be privileged to start anybody he sees fit and use him as long as he desires."

Rickey said after the first three amateurish innings, the game was played in a smoother fashion because the managers were running things.

In the sloppily-played first inning the National league infield fell apart and permitted the opposition to score four unearned runs. That eventually was the margin of defeat.

The Nationals got back two runs in their half of the inning when Stan Musial followed Jackie Robinson's double with a home run over the right field screen. They made it 4-3 in the second and only Ted Williams' sensational backhanded catch of Don Newcombe's fly prevented the Nationals from having a big inning. The Nationals' third inning attack produced two runs and put them in front for the first and only time in the game.

Turning Point
The Americans regained the lead in the fourth, capitalizing on Eddie Joost's freak single which both managers — Billy Southworth of the National and Lou Boudreau — agreed later was the decisive play of the game.

With runners on second and third and two out, Newcombe apparently had Joost fooled on a low outside curve. Joost hit it with the end of his bat and sent a twisting little looper to first. But the ball had "English" on it and it hopped crazily off Gil Hodges' bare right hand and rolled into short right. Both runners scored to put the Americans ahead 6-5.

The Nationals never caught up, although Ralph Kiner later blasted a two-run homer off Philadelphia's Lou Brissie. By that time the Americans had tallied two more on Joe DiMaggio's two-run double off Boston's Vern Bickford. They added three more in the seventh against the Cardinals' Howie Pollet to ice the game.

Although happy over the outcome, Boudreau agreed with the majority of the 32,577 fans who paid $79,225.02 — all of which goes to the players pension fund — that it was one of the shabbiest played games since the all-star competition began in 1933. The National league has won only four of the 16 games played.

Sloppiest Game
"It was the sloppiest played game ever played," volunteered Joe Gordon, Cleveland's second base star. "But they just outplayed us."

In all, the Nationals committed five miscues, a record for an all-star game. The Americans made one. A total of 42 players got in the game, 22 for the Nationals. Southworth used seven pitchers, Newcombe getting plastered with the defeat. Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell, St. Louis'

Dodgers Will Hold Baseball Clinic

The pennant-aspiring Brooklyn Dodgers will open a four-day tryout camp-school at Stumpfield field, Lancaster, on Monday, July 25, with Phil Weinert, Dodger scout, in charge of the program. Assisting him will be Al Campanis, manager of the Lancaster Red Roses of the Inter-State league, and Ray Welsh, also of the Brooklyn organization staff.

The camp, one of several being conducted by the Dodgers throughout the United States and Canada this summer, will afford young hopefuls an opportunity to display their ability to scouts who constantly are seeking prospective major leaguers.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Brooklyn, July 13 (AP) — Nearly every All-Star baseball game, like every World Series, has its big moment of drama and excitement—something the spectators remember and discuss for years. . . . The 1949 All-Star game had its big moments, too, but they were high comedy instead of drama. . . . But what else could you expect in Brooklyn??? . . . There was Johnny Mize failing to come up with Eddie Kazak's low throw in the first inning, a play that meant four runs. . . . And the inevitable comment: "Of course the error is on Kazak; they decided its unfair to make Mize bend over." . . . There was Willard Marshall playing tag with the ball by the center field wall for the fourth error that tied the All-Star game record; he couldn't find the handle on it. And Roy Campanella had the same sort of trouble for error No. 5. . . . When the starting lineup was changed to put Gil Hodges on first and Campanella behind the plate, it made five Dodgers in the lineup—Newcombe, Reese and Jackie Robinson were the others. It was the "Brooklyn against the world" game all over again.

SEGAR IS VEECKED

Charley Segar, the National league publicist, refused to offer an alibi for that fourth straight defeat. . . . "We've played 16 games so far, in all the parks," he explained. "Next year the All-Star game is going back to Chicago, where it started. We're going to do like Bill Veeck did in Cleveland; call the first 16 exhibitions, stage a grand opening and then we'll begin counting them." . . . "Yeah," exclaimed a listener. "You even had to get that idea from the American league."

DOTS ALL, BROTHERS

Related reports from the Gavilan-Robinson fight in Philadelphia says it would have done even better at Red Munger, Brooklyn's Preacher Roe and the New York Yankees' Vic Raschi were the only ones unscathed upon. Each went only one inning, except Raschi, who allowed one hit and walked three in three innings.

Virgil Trucks of Detroit, one of the four American league hurlers, was credited with the victory.

The game was marred by two showers, one of which halted the game for 13 minutes.

The Americans accumulated 13 hits, received five bases on balls and got two more runners on base via errors. The Nationals collected 12 hits, were presented with eight walks and a hit batsman, but left a dozen stranded.

Eastern League

(By The Associated Press)

Selkirk's Spoilers—the Binghamton triplets—have ended the perfect record of another Eastern league pitcher, Sid Schacht of the Scranton Miners.

Schacht was breezing along toward his ninth straight win last night at Binghamton. He owned a 4-1 lead going into the eighth inning. But before that frantic frame faded, the Trips chased Schacht amid a four-run eruption and won, 5-4.

It was Schacht's first defeat after eight straight triumphs. The win moved George Selkirk's trips to within a game-and-a-half of the second-place Miners. Four days earlier, via a similar eight-inning rally, the trips dealt Albany's ancient Ori Arntzen his first loss—after 15 straight wins. The Albany Senators widened their league lead to 10½ games with a double win over Williamsport, 4-2, on Inman Chambers' four-hitter, and 12-2 behind Eddie Haski. The second-place Wilkes-Barre Barons dropped a 12-4 verdict at Utica. The Blue Sox romped after an 11-run fifth inning that made Southpaw Bill George's fourth win an easy number. Elmira was idle while the Hartford Chiefs dropped a 12-2 exhibition game to their parent Boston Braves.

Interstate League

(By The Associated Press)

Righthander Ken Wild pitched the Allentown Cardinals to within three percentage points of the pace-setting Harrisburg Senators in the Interstate league last night, downing Sunbury 6-1 on a six-hit mound performance.

Harrisburg, not scheduled for league action, was rained out of an exhibition game with the Philadelphia Athletics. The two other games on last night's card—Hagerstown at Trenton and York at Wilmington—were also rained out.

Wild was in complete control of the situation throughout the Sunbury game, receiving credit for his ninth win of the season against three losses. Sunbury used four hurlers with Dan Ring, who was lifted after the first two innings, being charged with the loss.

Early Morning Fire Destroys Heret's Mill: Fire of undetermined origin destroyed Heret's mill, one of the largest and oldest flour mills in Adams county early Thursday morning.

Efforts of the Gettysburg fire company which responded to an alarm turned in at 1:20, saved a number of buildings in the vicinity of the blazing structure.

Mr. Clarence Bream estimates his loss at between $7,000 and $8,000, only part of which is covered by insurance.

Today's Talk

Nothing is so expressive of a person as the letters he writes. They are himself. That is why I am so fascinated by the letters of those whose books I have greatly loved or admired. I always want to know how that writer thought when he had no idea of his thoughts ever reaching any other than the one addressed.

I have an entire shelf of books that are but the published letters of great writers and public men. The writers are more revealed in their letters than in any of their books. Take the letters of Charles Lamb, for example. They are so quaintly expressed, full of kindness and touches of humor. I have never liked the books of D. H. Lawrence, but his published letters are masterpieces of honest revelation.

Many are the volumes that are titled "Life and Letters." But in the letters is to be discovered the life. Cowper, the poet, was considered one of the finest letter writers of his day. Another famous letter writer was Walpole, but his letters to me read dry and studied. They lack the intimate touch. The letters of William James, however, are an intellectual treat. On the other hand, to read the letters of Abraham Lincoln is to read of one whose humanity was always evidenced.

There are those who live in the sympathy and understanding of their friends, and so the letters that are exchanged come from the heart. In writing to Wordsworth, Lamb—in speaking of some of the friends that he had lost—wrote, "So many parts of me have been numbered." It is that way with the sincere letter writer. There is a delight to life when we have friends to whom we can write.

Sir Walter Raleigh, the English writer, in commenting upon letter writers, had this to say: "In a letter to a friend the thought is often unimportant, and the feeling, if it be only a desire to entertain him, everything."

A letter, written hurriedly, just to have written it, because of a duty or obligation, is meaningless. A letter should have a purpose, and be a joy to both write and send. You thus transport a part of yourself upon a journey. We all love such letters when received! And we bless the mail man a little extra.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Home"

TEARS
Why should tears so powerful be
Is ever a mystery to me.

I can stand an angry word
And pretend I hadn't heard;

I can laugh away a sneer,
But I cannot stand a tear.

It was so in years gone by
When I saw my mother cry.

And my Nellie's tears to see
Brought the bitterest pain to me.

Now with thinning hair and gray,
Still I find it so today.

If the children start to cry,
There is nothing I won't buy.

Personal Mention: Doctor and Mrs. Henry W. A. Hanson are spending several weeks in Asbury Park, New Jersey.

William Reinacker, who has been a guest in the home of Attorney and Mrs. J. Donald Swope, has left for his home in New York.

Ottawa, Ont., July 13 (AP)—A 28-month-old girl was assaulted, beaten and suspended nude from a rafter in a shed behind her home here Monday. The victim, Giselle Lachance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Telesphore Lachance, was reported recovering in a hospital today. Apparently she was seized while at play near her home, removed to a loft above the shed and later trussed with washing lines.

MEDICAL AID SCHOOL PLAN GROWS IN PA.

Harrisburg, July 13 (AP)—The commonwealth's program of providing medical aid to school children today seemed likely to become a million dollar business in the next two years. The Department of Public Assistance reported that the cost of the program has been climbing steadily since it was first started in 1947. It now promises to take a large slice of public assistance funds in the 1949-50 biennium.

The 1949 general assembly put a ceiling of $500,000 on relief money for the school program but only $98,000 was used. However, all but $98,000 was expended early this year when the plan moved into high gear.

Big Eye Program
The recent legislature authorized the department to spend up to $1,000,000 of its $160,000,000 relief appropriation for the next two years on the school aid program. If expenditures continue throughout the period at the same rate as during

May, nearly all the appropriation will be used up.

Eye treatment and the furnishing of glasses promises to be one of the biggest items in the program. Although this phase was in operation only slightly more than two months of the past school year, it reached second place in cost.

The eye program was added after a ruling by the state Justice department last March. Expenditures for this part of the program alone totaled nearly $11,000 over the two-month period.

Based on Income
Expenditures for the program began increasing at a steep rate last

January, a public assistance survey showed. The monthly cost chart showed a climb from $3,500 in January to a high of $39,300 in May.

The school medical aid program was designed to aid needy school children with physical defects requiring medical care. The basis for qualifying for state aid is established on a salary scale depending on the number of persons in a family.

For example, a family of three in order to qualify for state aid must have a monthly income not exceeding $150. All grants are passed on by county assistance boards.

ARMY CONVOY TO TEST SOVIET ZONE BLOCKADE

DANIEL DELUCE

Berlin, July 13 (AP)—An American army convoy of 60 trucks, loaded with supplies for the U. S. military post in Berlin, rolled toward the Soviet-zone frontier today in a test of Russian policy.

Unarmed, but with American military police escorts, the convoy is scheduled to appear at the Russian's Helmstedt checkpoint on the main Berlin autobahn tomorrow morning. British military police at Helmstedt reported today that several hundred Berlin-bound German trucks were stalled there in a continuation of the tieup which the Russians began Sunday.

The military police said that Soviet guards had allowed as many as six trucks an hour to pass in the early morning but were now cutting back to as few as three.

The American army, if its convoy gets through the Soviet zone without difficulty tomorrow, plans to establish a weekly trucking service to its Berlin post to relieve some of the burden on the U. S.-British airlift.

British officials said it was not yet known whether they would institute army truck convoys on the same basis.

Since the formal lifting of the Berlin blockade May 12, allied vehicles have traveled the Soviet zone autobahn without hindrance.

All other border points were closed by Soviet guards last Friday and Saturday to Berlin-bound truck cargoes. These points had been officially opened by the Soviet military governor, General Vassily I. Chulikov, in lifting the original blockade in May.

TRUMAN TALKS TO U.S. TONIGHT

Washington, July 13 (AP)—President Truman is going to sit down tonight and tell the American people about his prescription for heading off a depression.

He wants to get over to them his idea that there is nothing to be scared about in the moderate economic decline unless folks get panicky. And he wants to defend the fiscal policy of his administration against criticism by some members of Congress.

The President will talk to the nation over four major radio networks and via television from a desk in the movie projection room at the White House.

This first major so-called "fire-side chat" by Mr. Truman this year is scheduled for 9:30 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time).

The talk, White House aides said, will be an elaboration of his mid-year economic report to Congress on Monday. In this he scrapped earlier demands for a $4,000,000,000 tax increase and proposed an 11-point program to expand production, employment and purchasing power.

The theme of that message was that the country cannot have prosperity "by getting adjusted to the idea of a depression—by cutting in-

For Friends — Roamers — Countrymen —

Quite literally, it's one car in a thousand—999 other cars take the road for every Estate Wagon Buick turns out.

But it's far more than something exclusive, as you'll soon see when one takes its place in your garage.

For those times, for instance, when house guests arrive—what smarter equipage could you send to the station, what greater comfort, what handier way to manage the luggage problem?

And when the Lord and Master yearns for a few days away from it all—what's handier than this nimble gadabout, that lets him fold down a back seat at nightfall and enjoy full-length double-bed sleeping space?

And that place in the country, calling for a car that can go just about everywhere, do just about everything...

Believe Fight Aboard Air Liner May Have Caused Crash In Fog Fatal To 35

14 OTHERS HURT WHEN C-46 HITS CANYON'S SIDE

Los Angeles, July 13 (AP)—Official sources differed today whether a fight aboard an airliner caused it to crash and explode 30 miles north of here with a loss of 35 lives and injuries to 14.

A C-46 transport operated by Standard airlines snagged a wingtip yesterday in the Santa Susana mountains in a fog and exploded on a steep canyon side. Civil Aeronautics board inspectors said it was the worst non-scheduled flight accident in the nation's history.

James N. Peyton, regional CAB chief, said that a brief fight between two men passengers apparently did not cause the crash. He made this statement after talking to survivors. Peyton said the crash occurred an hour and a half after the scrap.

However, Capt. L. R. Powell, chief pilot for Standard, said his investigation convinced him the battle caused the tragedy. He described the pilot of the twin-engine craft, Roy G. White, as highly skilled and careful. White was killed.

Pilot Radioed Message
Stanley Weiss, airline president, expressed belief that the fight "may have contributed to the crash."

Standard airlines previously had been ordered by the CAB to discontinue flight operations next week for violating regulations.

A half hour before the crash, Pilot White had radioed Lockheed airport at Burbank that he wanted police to stand by to arrest one of two men passengers who had been fighting aboard. He said one man was badly beaten. The plane was inbound from New York.

A passenger, Mrs. Mary Bettis of Long Beach, Calif., said she saw the fight. She said she saw a man hit the man next to him just once.

Fight Saved Her Life
Stewardess Vicky Zelsdorf said in a Long Beach hospital that she owed her life to the tussle. She said she gave up her seat to the man who was struck. The man in that seat was killed. She said the two men had been fighting the day before also.

When Mrs. Zelsdorf saw they were going to crash she threw a blanket across her knees and abdomen. Doctors said this was her maternal instinct to save her unborn child, which they hoped to save. The stewardess was seriously injured.

CAB Chief Peyton arrived on the scene 90 minutes after the crash. He said the plane was making a normal approach for a landing at Lockheed and was on course, except that it was too low. He said the altimeter was working and that "there was no apparent malfunctions of the engines or structural failure of the aircraft."

"We Know Cause"
He has recommended a formal hearing and said investigation at

Holyhead, Wales, July 13 (AP)—So severe is the drought on the island of Anglesey that country inns now show this sign: "No water, please take soda with your whiskey."

The American black bear has disappeared from most of the plains states.

The American black bear still survives in many of the U. S. eastern states.

Black bears are fond of roots, nuts, berries, and fruit, but will also eat flesh and fish.

At birth, the black bear cub is only eight inches long and weighs only ten ounces.

STEELWORKERS VOTING TODAY ON TRUMAN PLAN

Pittsburgh, July 13 (AP)—The CIO-United Steelworkers take an anti-climactic vote today on a presidential proposal to avert a threatened steel strike—a plan already rejected by "big steel."

Only one of six steel companies—Jones & Laughlin—has accepted the White House proposal.

A strike of 500,000 steelworkers is threatened for Friday midnight. The union's wage policy committee yesterday told union leader Philip Murray he could call a strike any time he sees fit.

Delay Union Action

Murray held up, pending union action on a request from President Truman to extend the contract 60 days—long enough for a three-man fact-finding board to study the dispute.

The President made the same request of U. S. Steel corporation, Republic Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Jones & Laughlin Steel corporation, Youngstown Sheet & Tube company, and Wheeling Steel.

Jones & Laughlin, one of the nation's leading independent producers, immediately wired the President it was agreeable to the 60-day reprieve.

U. S. Steel Bombshell

Then U. S. Steel hurled its bombshell. The corporation declared it

Livestock Casualties Result From Heat

Many farmers suffered poultry and livestock casualties from the heat last week.

Adam Martin, of Antrim township, Franklin county, was one of the hardest hit. He reported that 500 of 6,000 turkeys died from the heat last Wednesday alone.

Neighbors helped Martin rig up a sprinkler system and temporary shelters to protect the remaining birds. Martin said the temperature in the sun was 110 degrees.

would have nothing to do with the fact-finding board. It based its objections on the fact that the President had by-passed the Taft-Hartley Labor law.

Republic and Bethlehem then chimed in with rejections. They echoed U. S. Steel's reasons.

Bethlehem Steel told the President in a telegram: "We do not believe that any such question, affecting as it does, the welfare of our country should be dealt with by a board which is not established in accordance with the provisions of the federal law (Taft-Hartley) which expressly describes a procedure for the handling of such matters."

HEAVY DAMAGE BY CORN BORER IS IN PROSPECT

Harrisburg, July 13 (AP)—Pennsylvania farmers stand to lose hundreds of thousands of dollars this year through damage by European corn borers.

Young borers are now at work devouring the inside of corn stalks in several sections of the state.

The state Agriculture Department says hot weather favored multiplication of this serious plant pest and they can be expected in greater numbers this year than last. Statewide losses from borer damage in 1948 was over $2,000,000. The damage in 1947 was close to $3,000,000.

Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of the state Bureau of Plant Industry, says Pennsylvania has two kinds of European corn borer. In central and western counties a single-generation borer has existed for about 30 years and has been kept fairly well under control.

For the past six years southeastern Pennsylvania has suffered great corn damage from a two-generation borer, one that raises two families a season and does double damage. The second generation, when it has time to develop, inflicts the greatest damage.

Eggs of the first generation borer were hatched the last week in June in the Harrisburg area. The young borers are already at work. Moths that will lay the eggs for the second generation will be flying about the 25th of July.

EXPECT FEWER JAP BEETLES

Indications point to fewer Japanese beetles this year, Dr. T. L. Guyton, director of the state bureau of plant industry, reported. The reason is the hot, dry weather over six consecutive weeks when grubs were developing into beetles under adverse conditions.

No outbreaks of summer insects such as grasshoppers and chinch bugs have been reported in Pennsylvania to date.

Control of insects and diseases on fruit trees has been maintained through application of sprays or dusts at regular intervals.

Field reports indicate that relatively little damage from rust has come to the 1949 grain crops. Wheat losses from rust last year ran into several million dollars.

FARM CALENDAR

Egg Buyers Benefit—Buyers who hold eggs for long periods under poor conditions reduce returns to producers and cut their own profits, says William F. Johnstone, extension agricultural economist of the Pennsylvania State college. Poor quality discourages future purchases by consumers. Unless buyers have proper equipment to hold eggs, Johnstone reminds they should ship frequently to the next receiver.

Plant Late Vegetables—Early July is still time to plant a number of garden vegetables for late harvesting. These include carrots, beets, kale, rutabagas, endive, Chinese cabbage, head lettuce, and bush beans. Use space where early crops have been harvested.

Paint Barn Inside—Paint is better than whitewash for the inside of the dairy barn, says C. H. Bingham, Penn State extension agricultural engineer. Whitewash is cheaper but flakes off and the particles sift down. Paint surfaces can be maintained in good condition and refinished.

Control Late Blight—Because late blight can strike potatoes and tomatoes suddenly and spread rapidly, causing possible heavy crop losses, county agricultural agents urge growers to be on the alert for these diseases, and offer full information on dust or spray control measures.

Tomatoes Still Lead—Judging from inquiries received on cultural practices and diseases and insect control, extension vegetable specialists of the Pennsylvania State college say tomatoes continue to lead all garden crops from the standpoint of acreage planted and general popularity.

Keep Entrance Open—Mash hopper reels placed near the entrance to range shelters and range colony houses help keep pullets from blocking the openings, says F. H. Leuschner, Penn State extension poultry specialist.

Prune Climbing Roses—Climbing roses which have completed their flowering should be pruned, reminds A. O. Rasmussen, extension ornamental horticulturalist of the Pennsylvania State college. Remove old canes; save those which send up new shoots from the roots. Climbing roses which bloom on laterals can be pruned later in the season. The old lateral branches should be cut away to within an inch of the main stems.

Chickens in Ample Supply—Supplies of chickens are expected to be ample through the coming months, informs William F. Johnstone, extension agricultural economist of the Pennsylvania State college. Prices probably will fluctuate around present levels, but chickens and eggs of poor quality will sell off sharply. Storage holdings are low.

Renew Strawberry Bed—C. S. Bittner, extension fruit specialist of the Pennsylvania State college, advises that where the old strawberry bed is to be held over for another year, an intensive cultural program must be followed. Destroy most of the old plants, leaving enough to send out runners, and apply a high-nitrogen fertilizer.

Control Leaf Hoppers—For control of leaf hoppers on beans, Henry Menusan, extension entomologist of the Pennsylvania State college, suggests two applications of DDT dust, 2 or 3 per cent, at 35 pounds per acre before blossoming. Apply preferably when the vines are dry.

Avoid Root Damage—Frank G. Bamer, Penn State extension agronomist, warns against cultivating row crops too close to the rows or too deeply because of possible damage to the roots.

Cut Lawns High—During hot, dry weather the lawn benefits from high (not less than 1½ inches) cutting, says A. E. Cooper, extension agronomist. Low cutting encourages crabgrass.

Orrtanna

Orrtanna—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lobinger, R. D. had as recent guests Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Miller and family and Miss Ann Tallentine, of Mt. Pleasant.

Miss Betty Mae Singley, of Oregon, Ill., is spending a vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Singley.

River Expedition Starts Journey

Cooperstown, N. Y., July 13 (AP)—Seven men, paddling three canoes, were en route down the Susquehanna river today for the purpose of collecting material for the National Geographic magazine.

The party, taking a route used by the Iroquois Indians, showed off from Council Rock on Otsego lake yesterday. They expected to complete the 440-mile journey in about six weeks.

Ralph Gray and Walter M. Edwards, staff members of the magazine, are in charge of the expedition.

Ex-Policeman's Body Is Found

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 13 (AP)—The body of former State Policeman Frank Gilvary, 43, who disappeared seven months ago, was found yesterday in Harvey's lake.

Police Chief Fred Swanson said he and a fisherman, Jacob Varaitis of Swoyerville, found the body of Gilvary—a resident of Wyoming—floating 250 yards from shore near the Harvey's Lake hotel.

Swanson said he had been told by Mrs. Gilvary her husband declared before his disappearance his body would be found in the lake.

The police chief said Mrs. Gilvary told him her husband had been despondent over loss of his job and the death of his father.

Progressive Biglerville Abounds With Many Merchandising Opportunities

Biglerville Was 'Paper' Town For 26 Years; Railroad Brought New Era To Early 'Middletown'

Biglerville, once known as Middletown, dates back to 1817, when it was surveyed and plotted by Samuel White, and lots (drawn by ticket) sold November 17 of that year.

It was a "paper" village until April, 1843, when Henry Hartzell, who purchased White's interest in 1839, erected a building at the intersection of the Gettysburg and Newville, and the Chambersburg and Berlin roads.

Prior to April 1, 1884, when the first regular train was run over the Gettysburg and Harrisburg railroad, the village retained its primitive characteristics, but once the whistle of the locomotive was heard, a new era introduced itself; new buildings sprang into existence, and the good work then begun has been continued.

Named for Gov. Bigler
Biglerville was named for Governor William Bigler, a native of Cumberland county and a resident of Clearfield county when he was elected the Commonwealth's chief executive. Governor Bigler was born in 1814. He was the 12th governor of the state, and died August 9, 1880.

Was Poor Farm Boy

In Gov. Bigler was a man who worked up from a poor farm boy to the highest executive office in the state. He lived in poverty on a small farm. Misfortune in business brought on the death of his father while he was still a boy. His only education was the common school. When 14 years of age he entered the printing office of his brother, John.

Later, with $20 in his pockets and a second-hand printing set he set out for Clearfield, Pa., where he began publishing the "Clearfield Democrat." As editor of a newspaper Bigler got his first taste of politics, and became a staunch admirer of Andrew Jackson.

When 23 years of age he married Maria Reed of Clearfield. Soon afterwards he sold his paper and teamed up with his father-in-law in the lumber business. In a short time he had amassed a fortune.

Became Governor in '32

With no money worries Bigler began taking his politics seriously and in 1841 was elected to the state senate by a big majority. He was fearless in advocating needed reforms and after one powerful speech an old colleague said, "young man, that speech will make you governor of Pennsylvania if you behave yourself well hereafter."

He became governor in 1852. While governor he opposed the wholesale chartering of banks, debts incurred by public works, and the vicious practice of passing good and bad measures in a single "omnibus bill." He was just as vigorous in his support of measures advancing public schools.

Under his administration school laws were revised. School districts were given corporate powers; the minimum school term was fixed at four months; definite courses of study were set up and the office of county superintendent of schools was created.

Was Railroad Head

Nominated for a second term as governor, Bigler was defeated by James Pollock when he fell sick and was unable to conduct an election campaign.

After his defeat he became president of the Philadelphia and Erie Railroad company. In 1856 he was elected to the U. S. Senate where he opposed secession in 1860-61.

Retiring in 1861, Bigler spent his last years as a railroad promoter and capitalist in Clearfield where he died in 1880.

Waste Unit Gets Rid Of Garbage

The home owner setting out to modernize his kitchen can accomplish much in one stroke by installing a sink which comes complete with a waste unit that replaces the messy garbage pail.

The waste unit whips food waste to a clean, flowing liquid, and washes it down the drain, thus banishing the unsightly and odorous garbage pail. Being a part of the kitchen sink, it is located in the immediate field of service. Working rapidly, it disposes of the food waste of an average family in a few moments. Cold water from the faucet passes through the unit during the grinding process and washes the waste down the drain.

The same sink is available with a dishwasher unit that rinses, washes, and dries dishes, pots, pans, and silverware.

BOYS ARRIVE AT INDIANTOWN FOR PA. CAMP

Indiantown Gap, Pa., July 13 (AP) — Vacation-bound teen-age boys from all parts of Pennsylvania began arriving here today to take part in the Commonwealth's first summer camp.

The boys, some 2,650 of them, will enjoy two weeks of fresh air and frolic, at the Commonwealth's expense.

The summer camp, named Camp Penn in honor of the State's founder, was authorized by the 1949 legislature to benefit boys between 14 and 16 otherwise unable to go to camp. It provided an allocation of $600,000 to cover costs of the first two years.

Formal Opening Friday

Although the camp does not formally get under way until Friday, the young campers began streaming in today by bus and train. Some 477 are due today with the remainder coming tomorrow.

An elaborate program, including sports, movies, talks and instruction in citizenship has been crowded into the 14-day camp schedule. Some 150 counselors will supervise the activities.

The camp will have its own operational area here on this sprawling military reservation, complete with sleeping barracks and dining hall.

Immediately upon arrival at the camp each boy receives a complete medical and dental checkup and then assigned to a sleeping barracks. The camp is divided into six separate camps with about 400 to a camp. Each camp will be named after an Indian tribe.

Clothing Furnished

The State is furnishing each young camper with a full set of camp clothing, including shoes, socks, trousers, underwear, sports shirts and raincoat.

A varied program of activities has been arranged for the boys with the Gov. James H. Duff slated to deliver the welcome address at the camp opening Friday.

Col. Edwin D. Feather, camp program director, said all manner of athletics will be available including swimming, hiking, soft and volley ball and badminton. The boys will get instruction in citizenship and democracy and Pennsylvania history.

For entertainment, there will be movies and song fests, talks by outstanding football coaches and an amateur program.

The boys will celebrate "Governor's Day" July 24 with a special physical education exhibition and a program by the state police. Gov. James H. Duff and other state dignitaries will be guests.

SURVEY SHOWS FARM WIVES' 'IDEAL' HOME

A one-story house with a large, screened porch, containing a living room with a bay window and corner cupboard, efficiently planned kitchen with a breakfast nook, and not less than three bedrooms — that's the typical American farm wife's notion of the "ideal" home, according to a survey recently made among thousands of rural women.

Among the features which were regarded generally as indispensable in the ideal country home are a well-balanced use of exterior materials and practical interior arrangement. The house must be comfortable and commodious, satisfying in its beauty, easy and economical to maintain. To lessen general housework and to lower construction costs, the typical American farm wife would prefer a house of one story.

Well-Planned Kitchen Important
An efficiently planned and completely equipped kitchen was regarded as important. The kitchen would contain plenty of cabinets, ventilating fan, a wide window above the sink, and a breakfast nook. Also thought desirable was a 9 by 14 foot screened porch.

The dining room should be of medium size, the farm wife decided, but should contain a large bay window and a built-in cupboard. The living room should have a fireplace, and large French doors should open on a front porch. In the entrance hall between the dining room and living room would be a coat closet and a small closet for card tables.

Three large bedrooms were thought necessary for the ideal farm home, with plenty of windows and cross ventilation. Wardrobe space was asked, while the boys room would have walls and woodwork of knotty pine or cedar. Sloping portions of the roof would be utilized for built-in bunks and bookcases.

The bathroom should be big enough to accommodate a large accessory closet. A built-in vanity, medicine cabinet, built-in tub with democracy and Pennsylvania history.

For entertainment, there will be movies and song fests, talks by outstanding football coaches and an amateur program.

The boys will celebrate "Governor's Day" July 24 with a special physical education exhibition and a program by the state police. Gov. James H. Duff and other state dignitaries will be guests.
